The background of the poster is a collage of four images: a tropical beach with turquoise water and a rocky shore; three fighter jets flying in formation against a sunset sky; a large white ship with a complex superstructure sailing on the open ocean; and a construction worker in a hard hat and safety vest working on a steel structure at sunset.

America's Investment in Strategic Defense Installations in the Indo-Pacific Region Is Growing

The development of military and strategic facilities in the Indo-Pacific Region is continuing. Admiral John C. Aquilino, the Indo-Pacific Commander stated before the House Armed Services Committee on March 9, 2022 that over $11 billion in new military and commercial construction, maintenance and service contracts will be let over the next 5 years on Guam and the Indo-Pacific Region. Guam and the Marianas as well as other Micronesian islands are experiencing the largest U.S. defense design, construction, supply, and service initiatives in recent history. At the same time, commercial construction and public infrastructure projects created by the American Rescue Plan are creating unprecedented opportunities for designers, constructors, suppliers, and service companies. The Guam Industry Forum 2022 is being held to provide networking and business opportunities for contractors and service providers large and small. Industry and government engagement creates a multidisciplinary collaboration that improves America's defenses in the Indo-Pacific region.

Hear Firsthand How Your Company Can Get Involved

Businesses throughout Asia, the U.S., Guam, and the Marianas will be coming to the Dusit Thani Guam Resort to learn more about being a part of this historic increase in America's strategic presence in the Indo-Pacific region. Hundreds of government and industry representatives will attend the forum. The SAME Guam Post and its affiliate organizations in the U.S. are reaching out to businesses to come to Guam and form partnerships with local and regional companies to implement long term strategies which will generate jobs and build a better future for Guam, the Marianas and Micronesia. By fostering communication and building relationships among military, public, private, academic, and professional organizations the forum will identify issues and develop solutions in support of national security.

Being a part of this event is being part of history and your company should consider getting involved. The information presented will be the most up-to-date, available, and beneficial for companies interested in participating in this unprecedented construction boom. Get to meet decision makers in the military who will manage the design, construction, and service contracts. The Guam Industry Forum 2022 will be a three-day event, scheduled from November 14-16, 2022, at the Dusit Thani Guam Resort.

Meet the Companies That Are Looking for Teaming Partners

The event, organized by the Guam Post of the Society of American Military Engineers, with the support of the Guam Contractor's Association and the Guam Chamber of Commerce, will bring construction contractors, architects, engineers, suppliers and service providers from the U.S. and Guam together to discuss and explore how collaboration will be achieved. The event is an unprecedented opportunity for private companies to meet with high level officials from both the U.S. military and Government of Guam. The Forum is designed to highlight challenges of the program and explore ways to make the strategic defense initiatives a success.

The SAME Guam Post is a non-profit organization and is seeking your help. All proceeds from the Forum will be used to support the SAME Guam Post and Charlie Corn scholarship program. The organization believes that your support signals a sincere commitment to improve the regional economy. We have included, for your review, a convenient list of sponsorship levels with their respective benefit packages. Interest in the event is high and is expected to sell out quickly. As a sponsor, you will be provided special recognition, access to the key decision makers who will be attending, the ability to display your company's services at the conference, as well as an invitation to networking events.
